Congratulations on choosing a Glenmore Lodge course. As Scotland's National Outdoor Training centre we have been delivering world class training for over 60 years. Our instructors are amongst the most experienced in the country; add to that the quality of the equipment you can borrow, our range of on-site facilities, as well as our food and accommodation and we believe it is clear that not only will a Glenmore Lodge course offer you the best possible learning experience, but that the value for money we offer is second to none.

Glenmore Lodge is a fun and welcoming environment and we take pride in helping you to develop your personal skills, whatever level you might be at. We look forward to seeing you here soon.

Introduction to Winter Climbing

Is It For Me?

The main focus of the two days is on introducing you to the main core winter climbing techniques whilst seconding a variety of winter climbs. The course WILL NOT cover winter leading skills.

To get the most out of this course you should have some experience of summer rock climbing and winter hill walking (including using an axe and crampons).

Aim

To develop a solid foundation in core winter climbing skills, whilst seconding a variety of winter climbs, such that you will be a competent and self-reliant second.

Course Content

You will usually be in a group of no more than two with one instructor. Meeting your instructor on the first morning provides an opportunity to discuss everyone's experience and aspirations enabling the instructor to plan the programme based around these. The main topics to be covered are:

- Recap of core winter skills, such as using ice axe and crampons, for approaching climbs
- Basic rope work (tying into multi-point anchors) and belaying both leader and second
- Use of technical ice tools and crampons on a variety of mediums (rock, ice, snow, turf)
- Coaching to develop personal climbing technique on ice and mixed ground
- Escaping from winter multi-pitch climbs (including abseiling from a variety of anchors).
- Avalanche awareness and its implications for safe route choice.
- Evening sessions may include an avalanche awareness talk and a general interest talk.

The programme is fairly flexible taking into account individual needs and aims, weather, etc.
